ROAD SAFETY AWARENESS INITIATIVE

To promote road safety among the general public, colourful pamphlets (printed on both sides of art paper) were distributed by road safety volunteers during a rally. These pamphlets highlighted road safety signs to encourage responsible driving and behavior. Additionally, Vinyl boards with printed road safety awareness messages were also prepared and installed at public places and colleges to further spread awareness. This initiative aimed to educate citizens about traffic rules, safe driving practices, and the importance of road discipline.

Preface

Symbols are generally used in road signs instead of words to convey their message. Symbols provide uniformity in application across the country as well as in the world and overcome language and literacy barriers for easy recognition by the road users.

Road Signs constitute an important part of the traffic control devices that help in regulating, controlling, warning, guiding and informing road traffic.

It is easy to understand the meaning of signages if you know the simple rules about their geometric shapes and colours.

Road Signs are classified into three broad categories

1. Regulatory Signs: These signs are either mandatory or prohibitory. The mandatory signs give instruction to road users on what they must do. Stop, Give Way, Compulsory-keep-left etc. are some examples. The prohibitory signs give instructions to road users about what they must not do. Regulatory Signs are all circular in shape, with the exception of the Octagonal Stop Sign and the Inverse Triangle Give Way Sign. Failure to obey Regulatory signs is an offence punishable under law.

2. Warning/Cautions Signs: These signs call for your attention regarding the condition of the road, which are dangerous for traffic. Road users must get alerted with these signs and take adequate caution to avoid accidents. All warning signs are upright equilateral triangles.

3. Informative/Guidance Signs: These signs indicate destinations, distances, amenities and facilities and are square and rectangular in shape. Knowledge of these road signages helps the road user to obey regulations and laws, be alert to the hazards on the road and receive proper guidance while driving. Road Traffic Signages mentioned in this pamphlet are those which are incorporated in section 116 of the Motor Vehicle Act 1988 as well as from the Code of Practice of the Indian Roads Congress IRC-67-2001
